

Our client Vinted (Kleiderkreisel) is a marketplace that connects people who sell, buy and swap second hand clothes. Available through iOS and Android apps as well as websites, it's a community of 14 million members - the world's largest style marketplace. Proud of its innovative, startup-minded culture, Vinted is strengthening its team in the company's Berlin office, looking for an

UX Designer (m/f)
(Berlin)

The new UX designer will join Vinted's Berlin team to create great user journeys for our members. Your goal will be communicating with them to evaluate how our clients product feels, what works and what doesn't. With research in hand, you'll use design thinking to suggest ways to improve and give members an even more memorable selling and shopping experience.

Ideally, you have proven experience in user-centric design. To succeed in this position, you'll have to be open, flexible, and have outstanding communication skills. You'll work in an international team, mainly between the HQ in Vilnius and the local office in Berlin, so an ability to collaborate with remote teams is essential.

Responsibilities

In this position, your work will cover two areas:

UX Research

- Validate ideas and assumptions by interacting with our members directly - interviews, focus groups and events. You'll be in charge of organising them, so we hope you're a hands-on and well-organised person with really sound judgement.
- Collaborate with our UX and product teams to source valuable user research based on product experience - evaluate its current state, identify opportunities and prove assumptions with members, then move to working with internal teams to make design decisions that improve user experience.
- Ensure that the user research process is effective and brings the expected results/data/insights.

UX Design

- Convert user knowledge into meaningful product design concepts and executed parts.
- Collaborate with multidisciplinary product teams and designers to launch your feature ideas to millions of our members worldwide.
- Partner with product teams to define problems and goals, map user flows, prototype interactions. Be a members' ambassador (with critical judgement in mind) in every step and help product teams understand our users deeper, while balancing company goals with user needs.

Profile:

- Proven experience (5+ years) of UX design at user-focused tech or media companies with examples of shipped products.
- Cross-platform design experience (iOS, Android, Web).
- Proven track record of working in multidisciplinary product teams (product managers and engineers).
- Lo-fi & hi-fi prototyping skills.
- Native German and excellent English with great oral and written communication skills in both.
- Ability to work in flexible startup environment, being team player, self-development and result-driven.
- Remote work experience and/or experience in international teams is a plus.

An online or PDF portfolio is required to apply for this position. Please send it to jobs@sparkhrconsulting.de along with your personal intro, CV, or a link to your profile on LinkedIn.
